Dear State Engineer Jason King State Engineer King,

We believe the scientific information is overwhelming: Draining 50 billion gallons of groundwater from the Great Basin would devastate Native American communities, rural economies and wildlife habitat over a huge area.

Further, the families and small businesses of Las Vegas, recovering from a brutal recession, cannot afford the huge price tag for this project.

Also, what would prevent what happened in California's water grab from the Owens Valley to Los Angeles, which devastated that area. That also resulted in a huge lawsuit that the citizens of Los Angeles had to pay.

I believe that we need to find another way to get water to the city, without destroying our northern neighbor's land.
