Dear State Engineer Jason King State Engineer King,

We believe the scientific information is overwhelming: Draining 50 billion gallons of groundwater from the Great Basin would devastate Native American communities, rural economies and wildlife habitat over a huge area.

Further, the families and small businesses of Las Vegas, recovering from a brutal recession, cannot afford the huge price tag for this project.

Just like our government we all need to live within our means. If this means we will use less water, then we should. We should NOT build a pipeline which will go across the state of Nevada which would continue to allow too much grass to grow in what we know is a desert. We cannot afford this pipeline now especially; and, as well all truly know the price will not reduce or even remain as projected -- it will go up and likely exorbitantly. We must continue to learn to live within our means whether with our financial budgets or our resource budgets.

Please deny the Southern Nevada Water Authority their demand for groundwater rights across our great state.

Thank you in advance for your consideration for keeping our resources safe.

Sincerely,

Georgia Sallows
