Dear State Engineer Jason King State Engineer King, State Engineer,

We believe the scientific information is overwhelming: Draining 50 billion gallons of groundwater from the Great Basin would devastate Native American communities, rural economies and wildlife habitat over a huge area.

Further, the families and small businesses of Las Vegas, recovering from a brutal recession, cannot afford the huge price tag for this project.

Why is it okay for Corporations, Utilities included, to pursue risky ventures which will create increases to my monthly costs. These same people will then rail against Government, Education, Retirement benefits, Regulation, and a myriad of other items as too costly. It's clear that my expenses are negligible and non- important when contrasted against theirs.

Sincerely,

James Jaworski
