Dear State Engineer Jason King State Engineer King,

We believe the scientific information is overwhelming: Draining 50 billion gallons of groundwater from the Great Basin would devastate Native American communities, rural economies and wildlife habitat over a huge area.

Further, the families and small businesses of Las Vegas, recovering from a brutal recession, cannot afford the huge price tag for this project.

Dear Mr. King,

I strongly encourage you to oppose building a pipeline to transfer water from the Great Basin to the Las Vegas Valley. I would recommend other solutions-- desalinization and continued conservation in the Vegas Valley. Many communities in the West are dealing with the scarcity of water, however, we do not have the luxury of abundant resources anywhere in the West to do so. We must learn to live within our limits-- reduce, reuse, and recycle.

Thank you.
