

Eric Lord
Water Rights Specialist
Colorado State University/National Park Service
1201 Oak Ridge Drive Suite 250
Fort Collins, CO 80525

WATER RIGHTS EXPERIENCE

Water Rights Specialist, National Park Service-Water Resources Division, Fort Collins, Colorado

Investigate and analyze water rights-related issues involving national park units. 1998-Present.

Law Clerk, Water Division No. 1 (South Platte Basin), Honorable Jonathan W. Hays, Greeley, Colorado

Conducted legal research and prepared memoranda, case summaries and draft orders pertaining to water rights applications in the South Platte River basin. 1994-1995.

Legal Technician, Bureau of Land Management, Denver, Colorado

Conducted extensive research of water codes of western states and compiled data into a reference guide for state B.L.M. managers. 1991.

Legal Researcher, Natural Resources Law Center, Boulder, Colorado

Performed legal research regarding various water right and environmental issues. Organized, edited, and co-authored a published paper on protection of riparian zones. 1990-1991.

OTHER EXPERIENCE

Assistant County Attorney, Weld County, Colorado. 1995-1996.

Law Clerk, Nineteenth Judicial District, Honorable John J. Althoff, Greeley, Colorado. 1993.

Assistant Vice President, First Interstate Bank of Golden, Golden, Colorado. 1987-1989.

Associate National Bank Examiner, Comptroller of the Currency, Casper, Wyoming. 1983-1987.

EDUCATION

Master of Science: Colorado State University School of Forestry. 2000.

Juris Doctor: University of Colorado School of Law. 1992.

Bachelor of Science-Mineral Land Management: University of Colorado. 1982.

PUBLICATIONS

Lamb, B. Lee and Eric Lord, "Policy Mechanisms for Maintaining Riparian Resource Values". Water Resources Research (April 1992).

Eric Lord, "Obed Wild and Scenic River: Asserting a Federal Reserved Water Right in a Riparian Jurisdiction". 7 Great Plains Natural Resources Journal 1 (Spring 2003).