Acknowledgments

The author would like to gratefully acknowledge the extensive historical information compiled and provided by Robert McQuivey on legislation, wildlife, fisheries, vegetation and habitat conditions pertaining to the Humboldt River Basin. The Division would also like to extend its thanks to the U.S. Geological Survey (USGS), Water Resources Division, Carson City, Nevada, for their extensive hydrologic databases and informative research reports, which were invaluable for the completion of this chronology. Special thanks is provided to Chris Stone, USGS, for graphical assistance for the figures of the Humboldt River Basin, sub-basins and hydrographic areas. Credit is also provided to the U.S. Bureau of Land Management (BLM), Reno District Office, for the information provided on wildfires in the Humboldt River Basin. The author would like to extend special thanks Ed Skudlarek, Natural Resource Planner, and Saxon Sharpe, Ph.D., Watershed Planner, Nevada Division of Water Planning, and Glenn Clemmer, Ph.D., and James Morefield, Ph.D., Nevada Natural Heritage Program, for their numerous inputs and conscientious reviews and constructive comments on various parts of this work. The author also extends his appreciation to numerous others for their comments on this text and suggestions towards improving this work. Errors and omissions remain the author's alone.
